From GameHunter: This game is an action RPG by Bluehole Studios that offers an excellent fantasy story. The battles are easy to understand and the character development offers a lot of variety. The graphics are strong and the gameplay flows smoothly from level to level. _____ Fusion Weekly: First of all, a big welcome to you all on this release day. The news of a new action RPG that's still in development by Bluehole from the same developers of Black Desert and Goblin has been huge, and I was totally excited to hear about this new project from them. How has development been going? PCM: Thanks, fw. We launched the website about a month ago and it has received a good response. We'll do our best to make sure that the game is released on the release date. GfB: Can you provide a sample of gameplay? PCM: Sure, we'll provide a recap of the development process, and show some of the new features in the game. GfB: What will you be including in the pre-order? PCM: We'll be including the first episode. The Proving, with the pre-order. However, it'll be up to the player to decide how much they want to pay for the pre-order. GfB: Your game is going to be a departure from the Black Desert and G-star games. Does this make you wary of wanting to be taken by surprise with this release? PCM: If there's a game that has received unprecedented praise from players for its great gameplay, it's The Elder Scrolls Online. However, we've worked closely with Black Desert to create an Elder Scrolls Online-like experience, so you won't be in for much of a surprise. GfB: Are you coming from the traditional AAA or independent route? PCM: We are independent developers, and we have been doing great things ever since we started. There are certain AAA studios that are known for being solid developers, but none of them have managed to create games that are truly world-class. That's not to say that they don't have a lot of talent, but that they lack the ability to succeed. We've made our own path and have been doing great for a long time now. GfB: Tell us the story of what makes this new action RPG different from Black Desert or G-star bff6bb2d33
